

Swirls are confound. Some have large holes in their walls, exposing to view wrecked interiors. Window glass, bedding and debris litter the streets. Scores of buildings are punctured by bullet holes. Many show the destructive effect of the artillery fire. The flags of all nations waving from the dwellings of foreign residents today.

Shout Joyfully.

Down the streets after the surrender, the soldiers in search of food and water. Their faces were unshaven and their hair unkempt, and their eyes worn by the loss of sleep in three days fighting. They went about joyfully shouting "Viva Madero!" as they passed on. American doctors bandaged their thumbs, grazed arms and slight wounds, and they gazed in the streets to celebrate their victory.

Telephone wires were soon being repaired and the interrupted telegraph poles replaced. The insurgents now are trying to make their new capital a habitable place.

Happiest among those who were about the streets were the prisoners liberated from the jail during the day. Many of them claim to have been innocent of any wrongdoing. James Monaghan, of Philadelphia, Pa., a student in Swarthmore College, who went sightseeing in Juarez on Sunday, says he was arrested as a spy, and since then has been in prison, being forced frequently during the fighting to carry water from across the street to the Federal soldiers who fought from the top of the jail.

General Madero walked about the streets congratulating his men. Their horses had not yet been brought from the city to the city. To-night he dictated the following statement:

"The taking of Juarez is of great military and political importance to the revolutionists and it assures us a complete triumph in a short time. The forces which defended the town fought valiantly."

"They owe their defeat to the fact that our forces were inspired by the spirit to win political liberty, while the revolutionists were held in their ranks by the yoke of discipline. The majority are in the army against their will. For this reason I wish to announce to all soldiers that I will set them free as soon as I can find a way to insure some means of support for themselves in my forces."

"At present I cannot set them free, as they have no means of subsistence, which would be dangerous. As far as I can observe the majority of the prisoners will swell my forces. Some army, and those who wish to continue true to the government of Porfirio Diaz will be exchanged for prisoners of war or political prisoners."

(Signed)

"FRANCISCO I. MADERO, JR., Provisional President of Mexico."

Much more ammunition than they ever dreamed to be in Juarez to-night is in the hands of the revolutionists. The majority wish to see the revolution in the State of Chihuahua with the rebels and if they march southward toward Mexico City it is almost certain they will recruit thousands of men.

The probable course of action of the revolutionists now will be to determine whether the revolution is ready to make definite peace concessions. Negotiations for peace probably will be resumed in a day or two, but the rebel demands probably will be made stronger than before. Rebel political chiefs were in Juarez to-night conferring with Madero.

Agua Prieta a Problem.

Douglas, Arizona, May 11.—With Agua Prieta, the town in which a desperate battle raged two weeks ago, thrown back on the rebels by its abandonment to-day by the rebels, the members of the rebel junta here are at a loss what to do with it.

The Federal garrison early to-day yesterday they devoted to building trenches and last night to destroying them. The town is deserted. The town of Naco also fell into rebel hands to-day, its volunteer garrison withdrawing.

With the port of Naco closed all provisions and other supplies for Arizona and intervening points on the Naco Railroad must pass through Nogales.

Americans are wondering how business is to be carried on, with Juarez, Agua Prieta and Naco left without a service.

Because of the evacuation of Agua Prieta, it is believed that the Phelps Dodge Corporation, operating the great Phelps mine and concentrator at Naco, must suspend operations, as there is no port for export. Other mines in Central Sonora are likewise affected, including the Minneapolis.

Many Pupils Promoted at Hamilton High School.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Cartersville, Va., May 10.—The closing exercises of the Hamilton High School were held in the school auditorium last night. They were attended by an audience that taxed the capacity of the room. A very delightful program had been arranged by the teachers and children, which was greatly enjoyed. There was an excellent address by M. Schumacher, one of the school examiners of Virginia. Since this was the first year of the school, there were no graduates, but a large number of the pupils have acquitted themselves well, and were promoted to higher classes for another year. Ordered to Readiness.

Nogales, Ariz., May 10.—American troops stationed here have received orders to be in readiness for action. They agreed to do so, and are expected to be in readiness for an early attack. All the Federal outposts have been ordered in.

The train from the south, due here at 7 o'clock this morning, had not arrived late to-day. It is reported to have been held up by 700 Yaquis operating around Ojo de Sonora. The train is supposed to be bringing a number of American refugees.

Ten rebels captured yesterday on the American side of the international boundary will be given a hearing to-morrow on a charge of smuggling horses.

Navarro and Staff Paroled.

Juarez, Mex., May 10.—General Navarro and his twenty-seven officers were paroled to-night by General Madero. After inviting them to dinner, he announced that they would be allowed to leave the city, but they could have the liberty of the city. They were to be supplied with food and clothing.

Wanted Restrictions Removed.

El Paso, Texas, May 10.—Joaquín Gómez, confidential agent of the Mexican revolutionists in this city, tonight telegraphed his assistant in Washington, Senator José Yacubón, to make immediate representations to the War Department for the removal of restrictions placed by the American troops on the passage of food and supplies to Juarez.

COTTON RATES INVOLVED

Oral Arguments Are Heard by Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington, May 10.—Oral arguments were heard by the Interstate Commerce Commission to-day in a case involving the compression of cotton in transit instituted by the Commercial Union of Southern States, the United States Cotton Association, the Central of Georgia Railway and other carriers.

The two cases involve rates on cotton from all points of origin in the East, together with the compression of cotton in transit from origin to destination.

DAY OF EXCITING DEBATE IN SENATE

Greeves Bill Annulling Immunity Provision Finally Is Defeated.

Columbus, O., May 10.—Following an exciting day, marked by denunciation of the press, detectives and those pushing the criminal investigation of corruption in the Legislature, the Senate to-day by a vote of 21 to 22, defeated the Greeves bill, which would have annulled the immunity provision of the law for inquiries by committees of the Assembly. This is the measure the House passed hurriedly yesterday.

During the morning session, the Senate considered the action in appointing a committee of Senators for what representatives considered white-washing purposes. The Senate's debate was marked by bitterness. Senator L. R. Andrews, of fronton, one of those in the Senate last week, denounced the detectives whose testimony had brought about the indictment. He charged it "was a most damnable conspiracy."

"By whom are we indicted?" he asked. And then he answered, saying: "By paid thieves, thugs and murderers." One of the detectives he referred to as a former penitentiary prisoner.

DIFFICULTIES ENCOUNTERED

In Doubt as to Right of Congress to Enforce Employers' Liability.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—Difficulties confronting the commission appointed during the last Congress to determine the power of Congress in dealing with the liability of employers in case of accident to employees became evident at the commission's first meeting to-day. Senator Southern, chairman of the commission, frankly acknowledged his inability to see just how far Congress could go.

Representative of Maryland, who has fathered the liability bill of the National Civic Federation, advocated Federal action and favored compulsory compensation for injured employees. He said that it would cause the employer to be more rigid in the enforcement of safety measures to prevent accidents.

James A. Emery, general counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, contended for an insurance plan, stating that it was the duty of the employer to insure his employees. There were differences as to the advisability of doing away with the liability of employers to be compensated by the National Association of Manufacturers, General Counsel A. P. Thom, of the Southern Railway, said the railroads were anxious to co-operate with the commission.

VACCINATE 700 PASSENGERS

Man on Incoming Steamer Suspected of Having Smallpox.

Philadelphia, May 10.—The close being kept at this port on incoming steamers carrying immigrants from Europe to prevent the importation of smallpox resulted to-day in the Pennsylvania State quarantined the steamship Verona from Genoa and Naples, via New York, for Philadelphia.

The steamship had passed the government health station at Red Bank, Del., on May 9, and arrived at Philadelphia at 10 o'clock to-day. When the vessel reached the State station at Marcus Hook physicians found on board a man suffering from smallpox. Taking no chances, the physicians vaccinated every one of the 700 persons on the big steamship, and the sick man and six others who had been near him during the voyage were landed at the State hospital for observation.

The Verona is the first ship to be quarantined here since the outbreak of "chickenpox."

VICIOUS ASSAULT ON RECIPROCITY

anything of the kind will happen. But there is yet just the possibility that this will be the result.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—A charge that government clerks by executive order are denied their constitutional right to appear before their representatives in Congress was made to-day by Oscar F. Nelson, president of the Federation of Postal Clerks, in concluding his testimony before the House Committee on Civil Service.

Nelson urged the appointment of a board to which appeals could be taken by clerks summarily discharged. The committee will meet Friday to formulate a report on the Lloyd Hill petitioning government employees to affiliate with trades unions.

May Drop the "Mister."

Washington, D. C., May 10.—Military procedure in calling the roll in the House of Representatives will be adopted and the prefix "Mister" no longer will be used by the speaker, if a resolution introduced by Representative Martin, of Colorado, estimates that consideration of the very legislative day can be saved by the elimination of the title. The Committee on Rules will decide whether to submit the matter or not.

Will Fight Agreement.

Chicago, May 10.—Legislative Agent John M. Stahl, of Farmers' National Congress, announced to-day that the alliance, which is represented in its membership in nearly all the important farming States, would oppose reciprocity with Canada. This declaration, said, had been reached after a thorough investigation of all the economic and industrial conditions involved. Mr. Stahl said:

"The proposed agreement with Canada is unfair and inequitable. It will injure our farmers seriously; and what injures them injures the nation. It is a matter of life and death to many of our farmers. The proposed arrangement with Canada be killed, and speedily."

The Farmers' National Congress is composed of about 6,000 delegates, appointed by the Governors of the various States, on the recommendations of the agricultural organizations of the States.

SAVED FROM DEATH AGAINST HER WILL

Demented Woman Fights Grimly at Very Edge of Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 10.—Fighting with grim determination to end her life, Mrs. Elizabeth Hartley, of Buffalo, sixty years old, was rescued from death at the very brink of the cataract to-day by a volunteer fireman, Harrington, who faced constant danger or being carried over the falls with the struggling woman.

Mrs. Hartley, who came here to-day, entered the river about sixty feet above the falls. Her dress caught in a jagged rock fifteen feet from the brink of the falls. There she was held until Harrington reached the bank with a pile pole and hooked it into her dress. Her arms clinched by the rapids current, Mrs. Hartley tried to get free from the pole, but finally, weakened by her struggles, she became quiet and was dragged ashore. At the hospital she was taken to a room where she cannot lie. On the river bank was found a letter and a bunch of flowers. The letter read: "No longer to be treated as a thing demented."

Word received later from Buffalo said that Mrs. Hartley was being nursed at the State Hospital there. She had been on parole for several weeks, and left the institution to-day to take a position in a private family. She had shown no signs of her mental trouble for three months.
